

‘Priorities’

Every moment’s a Choice, and even per the apostate system’s own ‘Willw[orking]’ model every Choice is an investment in manifesting something or other. Per Divine Will principles it’s a decl[aration] about what someone ‘decides’ they are, whether that’s Divine Will and True Nature-aligned or not. That’s essentially why “[Cha[os] mode” doesn’t succeed as an alibi; the Laws of Creation don’t suspend merely at the convenience of a lesser authority. It’s for that reason that I have a Duty per Divine Will to present evidence of yet another manifest pattern of systematic investment in counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature agenda items at the expense of their Choosing a legitimate Divine Will and True Nature-aligned basis. And evidence it’s presented as, exclusively. Its symbolism is otherwise entirely irrelevant on any basis including ‘friends-plus’.

I grew up enjoying much, though not all, of Alexei S[ty]le’s absurdist com[edy]. I did notice though that he’d often make much of his ostensibly Jewish affiliations, and that he’d promote socialism and at least for all appearances ‘anti-Establishmentarianism’. Of course we know that if they’re in media they’re collusive with the apostate system, which leaves that pret[ense] on his part a little lacking with us. But he put out something aro[und] what the apostate system has conditioned the public to regard as ‘the holid[ay] season’, never mind that the Bible presents nothing about the time of year of Jesus’ Nativity. The Roman empire’s ostensibly ‘Christian’, actually ste[alth] Rome-and-Babylon pagan emperor Constantine propagated all that, as part of a campaign to attempt to ‘m[er]ge’ Christianity and the existing paganism by decree. The date on or very near the w[inter] s[ol]stice made it all about their [M[ithra]ic [s[olar] idolatry, and given how much the apostate system and particularly [Is[ra]el] have been emphasizing its supposed meaning to Me for dec[ades] we can reasonably infer that this is still it’s ‘true’ meaning for them. He was also responsible for the decree about shifting recognition of the Sabbath to the wrong d[ay], S[un]d[ay], long before the papacy existed and for adopting the rather arrogant title ‘Pontifex Maximus’ which the papacy later resumed once it dared; that had everything to do with claiming Divine Authority however spuriously we know that to be now. At any rate during this [S[un]-worshipping event Mr. S[ty]le put out this message, which started to trend.

As an ostensibly Jewish comedian putting out a short message in support of the rights of Palestine, he's received much public support and enthusiasm for his iconoclastic and supposedly 'anti-Establishment' perspective. But while he dismisses the more prevalent rhetoric as 'an alternative to nothing', that appears to be precisely what his own is. Ah, there's nothing quite like a collusive and complicit cog in the apostate system machine 'speaking out' against the very things that machine is doing is there? Don't get Me wrong, the manifest atrocities he's addressing are unconscionable. And so manifestly is the apostate system as a whole. If he were genuinely against it, common sense would dictate that he would divest himself of it rather than addressing, conveniently, this or that specific item and using his affiliation clout to direct public attention to it specifically rather than to the manifest formula as a whole.

That is, the individual instance appears quite virtuous but the motivation and intention, the nature of the actual Choice rather than the isolated resultants, is the thing we're evaluating here. 'Everybody look at this thing in particular, and none of the rest of the thing!' appears to be merely hyping the apostate system's latest agenda items for strategic reasons. And I think I've likely found the strategy here.

We know that the apostate system has deemed the Zionist counterfeit to Judaism, which it had established many thousands of years ago when the actual Old Testament Israelites had been scrooched in between dynastic Egypt and the Babylonian empire, continually bombarded with foreign idol cults just showing up in their midst, to have pretty much served its purpose by now. Its continued existence merely serves as a blot against the perceived credibility and justice of any internationally governing body the apostate system would like to establish, and that makes it now a hindrance to same. An inconvenience. As such it's been scheduled for controlled shutdown for years now, and there's been plenty of advance non-overt organizing symbolism for it. That's in large part what the whole Harvey Weinstein thing was about, and all these [performers] supposedly beholden to Zio-controlled 'Hollywood' and the associated media industries had been about; everyone just 'speaking out' all over the place and 'ousting these awful people'. Since then, the apostate system-affiliated 'troother guru' propagandists on social media have been hyping the Zionist and Freemasonic franchises as supposedly 'the masterminds of the globalists' whole operation'. The apostate system-occupied Establishment media have incrementally become increasingly sympathetic with Palestine and less so with geographical 'Israel', so-called, over the years. And of course, this year we've found the latter 'spontaneously' implementing a major public atrocity throughout Gaza, with its commensurate public relations disaster, all apparently started in response to a major 'attack' by Hamas which as we've seen it controls, funds and organizes. Another unconscionable human puppet show, with the resulting public relations fallout as its apparent long-term 'payoff'.

Of course as usual there's been plenty of pre-prep from the apostate system. It's the franchise they want to 'controlled collapse', not necessarily the more loyal personnel within it. As such, just as immediately preceding a certain infamous regime in Germany which I'll refrain from naming due to symbolism reasons, those 'in the know' within the Zio franchise got the non-overt alert to 'abandon, clear the area' long before the overt situation intensified. It was only the stubborn personnel, the comparatively inexperienced personnel, and the ordinary, sincere non-overtly oblivious commoner Jews who'd been left figuratively 'holding the bag' to endure the persecution. And it's much the same with this iteration. Notice however that the Palestinians, effectively trapped within Gaza, appear to have had no such provisions for them. 'Classic' apostate system.

With this iteration though, the non-overt 'alert' wasn't so much to pre-evacuate an area as a notice quite early on to deprecate identifying publicly as Jewish, or as with the Zio franchise and the interests of so-called 'Israel'. But to where to shunt or to offload these personnel? The Knights of Malta are out; despite interoperating at what are figuratively 'the higher levels' the 'lower level' presentation has always been that the fascists and the Zionists were 'opposite number' franchises. Even in business, commerce and finances the Babylonian Kabbalists have been having the Knights of Malta expand there in recent decades, first to counterbalance the Zios and now apparently to replace their influence; the Knights of Malta presumably have much to gain there, at least in a worldly sense. What's left? Some of the [Asian] franchises, and of course the 'organized crime' franchises that've been putting out the hyperliberalism rhetoric etc.. That would certainly account for some of the rather suspect organizing symbolism we've been seeing come out of them for a while, such as "dog whistle" etc., along with the public infanticide campaign regarding spurious 'abortion rights' by actually making the women out to be the 'victims' of 'the controlling patriarchy in government', or even of the unborn children themselves who if memory serves had no agency and never asked to be placed there by the women, nevertheless routinely 'called out' as being either 'parasites' or what amount to 'womb invaders'. Anyone the least bit familiar with Netanyahu's speeches for decades will recognize the ploy of the intended aggressor making themselves out to be 'the victim', and it's a trope we've been seeing for at least the last decade-plus from the hyperliberalism brought on by the organized crime franchise in practically every category and agenda item. They appear to be making both their non-overt symbolism and their overt rhetoric 'readable either way' for either franchise in order to provide for maximum compatibility to assist the personnel transition.

But with this year's latest atrocities in Palestine this rhetoric appears to have been revved up even more. Formerly-Zio, now-organized crime personnel assets have been publicly condemning geographical 'Israel' and supporting Palestinians system-wide, not because it's just the moral thing to do but rather because it's as usual agenda-motivated and organizationally-directed. All those literal human lives taken by the apostate system, all as part of its usual counter-Divine Will-predicated schemes to manufacture consent and to strategically generate public antipathy in expedient directions. And while it's doing all that, doing the unconscionable, as we've just seen we've got apostate shills figuratively and literally 'mugging for the camera', banking on the public's usual unfamiliarity with the strategy and wringing the situation for all the virtue-signaling and public affection it's worth. It's an especially cynical, amoral and more to the point counter-Divine Will strategy, and we can see them investing themselves in it.

All while they're trying to establish to Me that, despite it all, they're actually Choosing a legitimate, Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned basis organization-wide, whatever else is said or done. [Slapstick comedy], is it not? Absolutely! They're Choosing Divine Will and True Nature, just so long as we're quite willing to put aside everything they say and do to the contrary. Lawfulness 'in theory', 'when convenient', 'as we get around to it'. 'In a minute.' It's the typical drug addict's position, and indeed that of any other idolator. Ultimately an idol, literally speaking, is just anything one is willing to accept instead of Divine Will and True Nature. It hardly matters what specifically.

I know, I know. 'They can quit any time they want to.' That much was never in dispute.

With all this manifest rejection of Divine Will and True Nature illustrating their Choice, and now absolutely loads of prep-time to organize stuff among the rank and file personnel, how would I ever be able to accept a supposed Choice for Divine Will and True Nature as even remotely credible? They're very deftly strategic when they Choose to be, and we've already seen they're quite willing to defraud both overtly and non- whenever it's expedient to an agenda item they've got.

“Spillage”, revisited

Right, not a lot of media on which to do analytics on since My last so let’s attend to the headlines.

We can start with Drudge’s main. Front and center, right at us all, the [technology] [terror] trope. I’m tempted to say it sounds like something out of ‘The Simpsons’ rather than life, but then we’ve seen them present this sort of thing so many places throughout the media that the ‘Terminator’ series would seem more appropriate there. You know, the “time travel” plus [technology] franchise where [Isis] is symbolically attempting to ‘rescue’ John Connor as the symbolic [Horus], and which presents that iconic “one-eyed” imagery so redolent of the [Isis]-[Horus]-[Osiris] scheme. And I suppose one in which a [dangerous] [robot] appears to ‘serve’ John, extreme [child] is of limited effectiveness, and the film’s ‘solution’ is [multinational] [metal] and plenty of [lightning]-associated [crashing]. Right, so let’s assess those headlines with the stuff in the right-hand column here a day or so later. [Touch] everywhere, and that’s not even getting into the recent headlines about Tesla’s major recall with more apparently on the way.

Quite a lot of effort invested into presenting something, credible or not, but what? The effect appears to be intended to parse out as something like, ‘Let’s non-overtly do a muck-up of the organization desperately attempting to thwart a counter-Divine Will basis via opposing it!’ That’d be consistent implied messaging for example with the ‘getting a counter-Divine Will basis [in container]’ that ‘Night Vale’ had recently presented. It’d also likely be very silly and likely intended to be regarded as such; just get a load of the recent politicartoon. ‘Tiny guy seeks attention’ is the implication, and we’re all familiar with the expression that the you-know-what ‘is in the details’. If we look more carefully he’s [small] and the other is [large], which’d make for a [katsune] reference symbol, and he’s [one-handedly] tugging at the guy’s [clothing]. ‘Promote this latest counter-True Nature-predicated campaign, cause, effort, etc.’ would be the usual read. To what, though? To dismiss the Choice for a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis as figuratively small, insignificant and inconsequential. That’d be a 'lay low' effort, just as Rome found it had to do in order to contend with Protestantism. Took them centuries, and they'd even used 'their own' personnel to temporarily remove political status from the Vatican, only to later restore it via the same method. Bit like chopping a dandelion at ground level; it just comes back later because the cause is still there. It's just 'gone underground'.

Of course, those'd be the usual reads of this stuff. They're still manifestly on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis so figuratively 'all bets are off'. Of course, so is their organizational integrity and that's to their liability. It'd be easy to make a conclusive inference here, but I've been figuratively being patient. One must not only be fair, one must be seen to be fair, and I've 'given' them plenty of literal time. So far this sort of thing is what they've manifestly Chosen to do with it. I certainly hope for the organization's sake they've Chosen to do something more Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned with it than we're seeing from here.

It's at about this time of year that [Isis] often presents Me with something 'nice'. Major supposed 'holidays', My literal birthday, and so on. Or on or about the start of the rather spurious Gregorian 'New Year'. Not always, but often. Of course this year 'all bets are off' under the circumstances, and we're all 'holding our breaths' either figuratively or symbolically, depending. For 'New Year's', it's usually been a rather generalized prophecy about what the coming year will manifestly hold in store. And sometimes, but not always, it comes either presented right about now via many sources, or it's formulated to present 'New Year's'-specific imagery, so I'm by now conditioned to be 'on the alert' for it regardless of how credible, because it's representative of a manifest [Isis] pattern of investing Choice, time, effort etc..

And on that, I've thus far encountered two [freaks]-associated instances in media. The first I'll avoid for reasons of fairness. The other was certainly more indirect; get this. I was going through some albums I've had on My device for ages, getting at a nice, relevant, vocal-free chiptune remix of something or other. It was a chiptune remix album. And adjacent to the one I was after, I noticed they'd done one of 'The Cardigans'' co-dependency anthem that everyone's heard, presented exclusively as evidence. And I'd thought to Myself, 'Haha! How appropriate.' Given that it's done in supposed 'inverted' mode, and comes out to 'double inversion' for the mainstream franchises involved, and single 'inversion' with [absurdity] and other 'non-symbolism symbols' in the lingo of My “House”. And the more appropriate I noticed it to be, the more I thought about it and tried to remember where I and practically everyone else had first heard of it. ‘Ah, that’s right. Baz Luhrmann’s modernized version of ‘Romeo + Juliet.’ And suddenly I got flashbacks of likely the most visually-impressive sequence there, the costume party, with Claire Dines presenting appropriately enough symbolically in that cute little [angel] [costume], with her unconscionable and amoral Establishment parents presenting as Roman and dynastic Egyptian respectively, and her ‘holding her breasts’ figuratively between the rich ‘Paris’ who’d been presenting as an [astronaut] and our protagonist presenting as a [hero]. Uh-huh. And I kept thinking about how My “House’s” symbolic lingo references counter-Divine Will people and groups via ‘Divine’ symbolism and imagery presented in ‘inverted’ mode just so we can keep the distinction clear, and that [female]+[angel] would’ve been a perfectly appropriate example of that. Until of course they’d added the [fireworks]. You know, a loss of [integrity] by promoting a counter-Divine Will-predicated [performance], just as they’d done with the founding of the overt United States.

The film itself doesn’t seem from here to carry much currently-relevant symbolic value, though the reiteration of an ages-old story in a modernized setting certainly would be. My gosh, how old is the apostate system’s [Isis]-[Horus]-[Osiris] motif? At least five or six thousand years old at the minimum. And it also occurs to Me that despite it being hyped even now by the apostate system as ‘a timeless classic and masterpiece’ along with all his other stuff, the original play was if memory serves presented and received as a tragicomic farce mocking the hastiness and impulsiveness of ‘young Iive’. So, pretty much a direct counterexample with regard to My situation relative to [Isis]. Just as well I suppose, considering how the piece ends. At any rate, just a few apparently-relevant items from and regarding it; readers can very safely disregard the item as a whole here.

But with [fireworks], [explosions], anything counter-Divine Will-predicated, as per usual it’s inherently unreliable except inasmuch as the organization manifestly implements it regardless. Which has been quite a bit, for the last umpty-thousand years. Therefore, ‘all bets are off’ both with regard to reliable parsing and of course with the manifest acceptability of the organization.

I’d recently noticed a ‘standard-usage’ non-overt association of symbolic concepts as used by the apostate system:

[Drag<sup>n</sup>] -> [R<sup>ptile</sup>] -> [Din<sup>saur</sup>] -> [O<sup>il</sup>] -> [Plast<sup>c</sup>]

which has provided for quite a lot of modernization of the manifest schema they've been using for the last umpty-tho<sup>sand</sup> years. Amusingly it 'snapped' into recognition while I'd been watching outtakes from the f<sup>ilming</sup> of 'Mrs. Doubtf<sup>ire</sup>'. [O<sup>il</sup>] is particularly interesting, given that the [earth]+[wat<sup>er</sup>] combo gives us "[Cha<sup>s</sup>] mode". Also that it's [bl<sup>ack</sup>], associated with 'made-for-public villain', and that despite the overt hype apparently perpetrated by the o<sup>il</sup> lobby to emphasize its ostensible 'scarcity' it doesn't actually come from [din<sup>saur</sup>] [b<sup>ones</sup>], it's foss<sup>ilized</sup> plant matter and plankton which is a lot more abundant. And with the prevalent "foss<sup>il</sup>" term in use they've managed to add a [Gem<sup>ini</sup>] symbolic instance via [alliteration]. So you'd get the concept of a counterfeited counter-Divine Will basis 'for the public effect purposes of being presented as a villain'. Presumably leaving the more substantial version of the counter-Divine Will basis unaddressed and prevalently unnoticed. Also interestingly, in a 'counter-Divine Will declarator symbol versus "[Cha<sup>s</sup>] mode" declarator symbol' instance like [o<sup>il</sup>], figuratively 'which would win?' Either one would invalidate the other, or they'd both apply and likely to each other. Because they're in practice, synonyms of each other.

The inherent [absurdity] of the concept of attempting to have an organization-wide 'resistance' campaign or 'civil w<sup>ar</sup>' regarding a counter-Divine Will basis, with each figuratively 'sne<sup>aking around</sup>' attempting to present as the other, ought to be self-evident with a little common sense. Refraining from non-overtly declaring oneself to be 'on a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis' would of course make more sense, but then the apostate system has manifestly adopted so many symbols as those, and from which even more things are considered to symbolically derive, that avoiding them is practically imposs<sup>ible</sup>. [T<sup>chnology</sup>] for example. Unless we're to accept that only people Choosing Amish and Luddite lifest<sup>yles</sup> are Choosing a legitimate Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned basis. And if not, then lesser criteria would appear to leave so much room for misinterpretation both innocent and strategic.

But why has the apostate system got so many symbols for it? Sh<sup>ow</sup> Me an organization's symbolism, and at least on the 'lay<sup>er</sup>' in which it means and is acting on it, I'll show you what it manifestly does. The symbolic lingo I'd been establishing for My "House" for example: purpose-built for teaching, promoting, evaluating and upholding Divine Will principles. It would appear that what the apostate system manifestly does, is prevaricate on whether someone has a legitimate Divine Will- and True Nature-aligned basis, subvert those that do via concerted campaigns, and occasionally "interrupt genuine resurrection spells and attempt to replace them with cheap counterfeit versions that are ineffective". I don't think I can consider that a proper Job, and given that it wouldn't represent Divine Will as their Principal it certainly wouldn't "pay" enough. It would only accrue, and continually attempt to defer, liability.

'Paisley mode'

Back when [Isis] had been training Me in Divine Will principles, systematically violating My rights all while bouncing Me around like a pinball with the [fluxlight], she had started to familiarize Me with all manner of lower-level franchises and their lingo, along with various 'layers' and 'modes' for the various franchises. What I couldn't avoid noticing was that for all that, for all the various non-overt systems and methodologies, none of it accounted for the continual, routine and systematic transgressions let alone made them acceptable. What became something of an in-joke between us was something I'd thought at her, partly in jest but mostly in frustration. 'Normal 'mode', inverted 'mode', multiple 'inversions', 'absolute' mode... what next, 'paisley mode'?' And it was shortly either before or after that that she'd familiarized Me with 'psychedelic mode', in which a lot of lateral thinking, indirect references and oblique conceptual associations was used ostensibly by 'resistance'-affiliated personnel to get their messaging done without getting 'caught out' for doing it. It was a moderately entertaining process to watch, an effort-intensive method to deploy, and as I'd come to find out later the whole thing's predicated on a counter-Divine Will basis via those [wavy lines] associated with the imagery for the 'mode'. Result: Ultimately meaningless, or at least counter-Divine Will-predicated and therefore unreliable and untrustworthy.

Reviewing the film 'The Game' I'd mentioned in My last piece, I noticed that they'd done up his place in the 'trip-out' color scheme alluding to it. Therefore what a great opportunity per Duty for Me to clarify that I'm refraining from using that for the reasons presented in the last paragraph. But it occurs that an entire 'mode' which is based on an invalid for reason of a counter-Divine Will basis is functionally the same as [Isis]' "[Chas] mode". What's more, her manifest position and basis as well as that of the organization as a whole are in that same position. A figurative 'house of cards' built on the untrue, the irrelevant, the unreliable and untrustworthy, and the extraneous.

If they're unable or unwilling to provide, up-front, a credible, reliable and verifiable establishment that they're Choosing a Divine Will and True Nature-aligned basis, that'll be that. The "spillage" thing would of course by definition not be doing that, it'd just be flipping around between various counter-True Nature [mask] 'layers' and trying to sell yet another narrative, yet another rationalization for the unconscionably repugnant and the worthless; liability in fact. Because Divine Will and True Nature are the Ultimate, Genuine State of Creation. The manifest Choice for anything less, whatever the narrative, is just investing in a farce and an untruth.

I keep thinking back to that 'Arch' bit about, 'I'm just gonna stand here and blink at you and wait for you to get less stupid.' It's manifestly been empty-thousand years and the organization is still doing it. Then I come along and, let's just for a moment remove the comparatively irrelevant distraction bauble that is the office of [Osiris] from the formula. My whole objection is the manifest oppression, the violation of rights and so on, and [Isis] gets into the mix, does her training routine, and I better-define the problem as a routine and systematic transgression against Divine Will and True Nature. They manifestly continue to Choose and invest in a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis on a variety of pretexts, so much so that I'm not confident I'll be able to trust her or the organization ever again, even once they presumably purport to stop as logistically they'd pretty much have to.

And I keep thinking of that, er, [d] symbol they use. As in [reservoir]. 'Keeping back an otherwise-overwhelming illegitimate predicament by rejecting a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis.' Al...right. Like the sort of thing we've manifestly been enduring? [Isis] and her amazing "[Chas] mode" alibi for implementing still more counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature rights violations and Lawlessness? And she's ostensibly 'the nice one', the component of the organization which restores it back to Divine Will alignment. The redeeming component of the whole process. Rejecting an organization that's been consistently Choosing an invalid, illegitimate, counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis and could have no means of credibly establishing otherwise would appear to just be part of that 'rejecting a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis' parameter that's only Duty per Divine Will and just plain common sense.

The alternative would appear to be to accept it. Symbolically, to [eat], uhh, [fire]. To accept it 'because reasons', and to accept that [Isis] will just be on a fundamentally invalid and illegitimate basis, and 'inconstant as [the Moon]' with a lot of figurative 'bi-polar silliness' antics. Nuh-uhh. Because as we know, there's no acceptable reason for Choosing a counter-Divine Will, counter-True Nature basis knowingly, willfully and avoidably. She's the one who taught Me that. I'm all for giving 'due diligence' and attention until people and organizations preclude it by illustrating that they're on an invalid basis.

And at least from implied messaging, getting Me to accept the organization on 'an invalid, counter-Divine Will basis' has ostensibly been what all this additional lag-time has been about. Remember Twitter's name change to a certain letter of the alphabet? Right, that's [blue] as in "[Isis] 'just kidding!' and attempting an effort-in-process of her own", [air] as in 'promote this cause or effort' via their logo, counter-Divine Will as in a [corporation] name, and two [\[diagonal lines\]](#) counterbalancing each other, as in two groups or factions each predicated on a counter-Divine Will basis, ostensibly in opposition to each other but resulting in a situation that can last more or less indefinitely.

Of course that too is predicated on a counter-Divine Will basis, as is their whole "spillage" hype, so again 'all bets are off'. But then, the organization itself manifestly continues to be predicated on such a basis. We can see that it is because it's manifestly been implementing stuff on that kind of a basis, and it's not like it's feasible to have 'a secret principal who's totally legit, yet who isn't represented by its agents'. If there's one thing we haven't manifestly seen the apostate system doing, it's upholding Divine Will and True Nature. So it's manifestly on a basis just as invalid, illegitimate and insolvent as that same counter-Divine Will basis on which 'all bets are off'.

So it's a bit curious to see them manifestly investing 'their' organizational efforts in what appears to be not only more of the same, but ineffective too. No matter though, they've still got... ah, is it that late already? Time flies when you're having so much fun. Guess we'll all see what if anything they have to say for themselves at the end of this arbitrary Gregorian calendar year, and how credible it is. Including whether it accounts for all this, particularly the lag-time itself where they continued to Choose to reject a Divine Will and True Nature-aligned basis. Or will everything just retroactively change around us because they will have made illegitimate use of the figurative 'time machine' with the threatening, glowing aura radiating from it? We just don't know yet. Guess we'll find out shortly, or it will never have come up in the first place. What I do know is that whatever happens I'll still be Choosing Divine Will principles and True Nature to the best of My ability in any situation in which I exist and the apostate system hasn't hidden knowledge of them from Me.

Have a great one, readers, and see you on the other side of this arbitrary date range. Literal sobriety where appropriate.

- [December thirty-first, 2023]

All media references presented completely and exclusively as evidence, not even any media references personal or 'friends-plus' relevant.

Redistribute freely, keeping the text as-is.

Social media:

Facebook

Twitter

Discord (for leaving messages and chatting about these topics)

RSS feed

Archive torrent

My exposure sites:

Divine Will Assembly

Lexicon